Security Provisions

4. There is no workers militia in the Czech Elbe River Navigation Company. Regular guards armed with pistols patrol the ports and warehouses on a 24-hour basis. The warehouse along the Elbe and Vltava Rivers are the property of the Navigation Company.

Political Conditions

5. No Soviets are in the navigation service or on the staff of the directorate. About 30% of the total number of employees are organized in the Communist Party; however, the number of real Communists is much smaller and amounts to approximately 10% of the total. Young sailors are, as a rule, more devoted to the Communist Party than the older ones, because they are granted special privileges. For example, a young boatman with 18 months navigation school and 15 months practical training on a boat receives the same salary as a sailor who has been in the service of the Czechoslovak Elbe River Navigation Company for 20 years, an innovation never known before. In addition, young sailors are often entrusted with the task of supervising the older boatmen, a fact which is sometimes very flattering to the younger sailors, many of whom become secret agents of the State Secret Police (STB). However, the majority of boatmen of the Czechoslovak Elbe River Navigation Company do not trust Communist propoganda, mainly because they have had the opportunity to observe conditions in other countries (Western Germany). The same applies to members of the Communist Party who have had the opportunity to observe the real situation but remain in the Party only because of the advantages connected with the member ship. 50X6
